

AMENDMENT TO ABSTRACT

Please substitute the following text for the Abstract. This substitution is submitted simply for the purpose of resolving a minor grammatical issue and to improve the readability of the section.

A system for and a method of enhancing information delivery to a client is disclosed. [[A]] An operator at a server accesses at least one configuration file comprising instructions for displaying a URL at a given time and date. The server system time and date are verified and, when the time and date function of the configuration file corresponds to the server time and date, a configuration file is transmitted to the client, ~~when the time and date function of the configuration file corresponds to the server system time and date.~~ A document is displayed at the client based on a given system time and date.